

DEPARTMENT OF HUMAN RIGHTS EDUCATION WAALM® - School of Cultural Diplomacy

The Departmental Prospectus

Department of Human Rights Education is to promote awareness as well as education of Human Rights. It will educate learner on Universal Declaration of Human Rights as well as Human Rights progression throughout the history and assist those who are interested in teaching, in learning methodologies and skills to teach Human Rights to Youth.

Subjects / Modules Delivered from This Department:

-- Teaching Human Rights to Youth:

It provides teaching methodologies, techniques and strategies for teaching Human Rights to Youth.

It familiarizes the trainees with a wide range of Human Rights teaching and supplementary materials.

- Human Rights Evolution:

It focuses on the historic evolution of Human Rights as well as the Universal Declaration of Human Rights

Qualifications:

Each subject can be taken as a single module or group of study modules / subjects.

- Certificate: It will be conferred to those who successfully complete a single module.
- Advanced Certificate: It will be conferred to those who in addition to completion of a module, they carry out a research and a short dissertation (5500 words) on an approved related topic.
- Diploma in Teaching Human Rights to Youth: It will be conferred to those who has already completed an Adv. Cert in Teaching Human Rights to Youth modules and are ready to undertake at least 100 hours teaching Human Rights in their community. (For further information please contact Administration)
- Research Based Diploma in Human Rights: It will be conferred to those who could successfully carry out an extensive research and dissertation (17,000 words) on an approved topic by this department.

All the research studies will be supervised by an appointed supervisor.

Method and Requirements:

All the modules will be delivered through distance learning online. No class-room participation is required. Our school Professors, Research Supervisors and / or Advisors will be available via email to address students questions and provide them with guidance and assignments on one to one basis. Students are required to have a valid email address and access to Internet. They are also recommended to have webcam facilities.

Students are recommended to allocate at least 4 to 6 hours study time per week. Students can register at any time; however, they are required to complete their course not later than the following given timelines:

- Single Module at Certificate level within 3 months.
- Single Module at Adv. Certificate level within 6 months.
- Diploma in Teaching Human Rights to Youth 6 months (after completion of Adv. Cert).
- Research Based Diploma within 12 months.

Assessment:

It will be conducted throughout the programme via short essay writing and / or through oral tests, where video conferencing is available.

Results:

Students are required to achieve at least 60% of the total available mark.

60 - 84% = Pass

85 -100% = Pass with Distinction

Students who fail the assessment of a module may take the second attempt for a charge of £25. Those who fail the second attempt are encouraged to repeat the course.

Study Materials:

- School approved free full text Google books related to the subject(s);
- Study articles and papers by the department's academia;
- Research references will be provided.

Note:

Students may be required to purchase additional materials directly from the provider / bookshops. Students are advised to allocate approximately £150 - £200 for this purpose. Once students have selected their module and level of study, they are advised to contact Admissions for further information on this prior to registration.

www.waalmdiplomacy.org

www.waalm.com